Once a Ram, always a Ram!

The Anatomy of a Ram

Being a part of the WSSU Ram family must be experienced in order to be understood. WSSU exemplifies a love and pride one may not receive elsewhere. At WSSU, diversity is welcomed because it prepares students for life in a global society.

Turn the page and take a look at what makes up the Anatomy of a Ram.

Office of the Chancellor

Dear Students:

Graduates, congratulations on completing another milestone in your educational journey. You are to be saluted for your accomplishments. As a recent graduate of Winston-Salem State University, you have been a part of the transformation of your alma mater just as I have been. I will always cherish the opportunity I have been given to serve this great university, just as I know you will cherish the memories of what you have achieved. This yearbook freezes in time the memorable moments of your past year at WSSU.

These are moments many of you will never forget. The value of the contents contained in this publication will grow over time. Each time you read this yearbook, you will lose yourselves in fond memories of your lives at WSSU.

We are proud of you because you exemplify the best traditions of our motto, "Enter to Learn, Depart to Serve." I know that you will carry that legacy with you, as well as your university family's brightest hope for your success in the global marketplace you will soon inherit. You are well equipped to carry that legacy forward.

For returning Rams, this yearbook captures the excitement of the past year you experienced and provides a glimpse of events that could become defining moments in your experience at WSSU. We are glad you selected WSSU, and we look forward to your return in the fall.

Please know that each of you occupy a place of honor at WSSU. Remember that when you leave this great institution, you honor your WSSU family in the way you serve the world.

With very best regards,

Farewell

Chancellor
Harold L. Martin, Sr.

Dr. Harold L. Martin, a Winston-Salem native, guided Winston-Salem State University through a critical time of change and transition. Under his leadership, enrollment doubled between 2000-2006, making WSSU the fastest growing institution in the University of North Carolina system for three consecutive years.

Reflecting his steady and resourceful guidance, WSSU has been ranked #1 among the Top Southern Public Comprehensive Colleges by U.S. News and World Report for five consecutive years. Dr. Martin distinguished himself as a top-notch academic administrator, researcher and scholar.

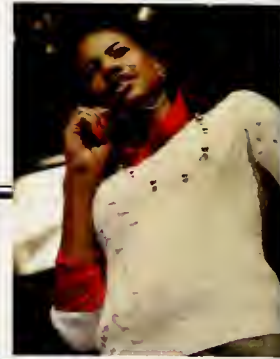

Dr. Martin also led WSSU's reclassification from a Baccalaureate I to a Master's II institution, which created a School of Graduate Studies and Research. In addition, seven master's degree programs were implemented along with stronger working relationships with internal and external constituencies. Major initiatives were launched to strengthen academic quality, which resulted in higher enrollment and graduation rates.

Dr. Martin earned Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Electrical Engineering from North Carolina A&T State University, and a Doctorate degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

In July 2006, Dr. Martin concluded his tenure as Chancellor of Winston-Salem State University and moved to the University of North Carolina General Administration office in Chapel Hill to take the helm as Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs.

One Hundred-Fourteenth Founder's Day Convocation

Simon G. Atkins, WSSU founder, served as president of the university from 1892-1904.

Interim Chancellor Michelle Howard-Vital is currently at the helm of WSSU for a new and creative generation.

Winston-Salem State University was founded as Slater Industrial Academy on September 28, 1982. It began in a one room frame structure with 25 pupils and one teacher.

Since its beginning, WSSU has grown to more than 30 buildings and 5500+ students.

New Dormitory Groundbreaking

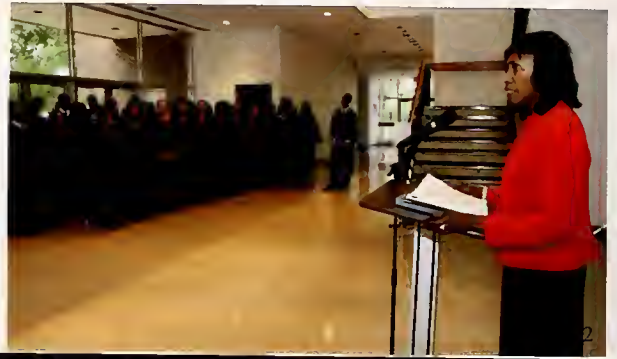

Winston-Salem State University broke ground on a new $18.7 million-dollar residence facility, which will honor the substantial commitment of the WSSU Foundation.

The new 114, 000 square-foot, 316-bed living and learning environment will include several eight-person occupancy mega suites for academic interest groups. Each suite and apartment is designed with a living room, full-sized kitchen and access to a community computer lab, fitness center and laundry room.

The new co-ed dormitory will be located between Brown Hall and the C.E. Gaines Center.

Foundation Heights is projected to open in the fall of 2007.

Annual Wreath Laying Ceremony

The wreath laying ceremony, held on Friday, October 6, 2006, recalls how Simon G. Atkins provided opportunities for the intellectual growth of young people when access to education was limited.

A daring innovator, Dr. Atkins established a school that became the first black institution in the country to grant degrees for teaching elementary grades.

Rams Choice Awards

-A Night to Remember-

The Rams Choice Awards, sponsored by Campus Activities Board (CAB), is an annual awards show honoring students, administrators and professors. The night began with entertainment from The Generations of Amazing Models and Entertainers (GAME), and Talented in Motion (TIM).

Wes Hayes and Valencia Thomas were hosts for the evening.

And the winner is...

One of the many musical entertainments of the night.

The crowd was very supportive of the acts for the evening.

Alece Oxendine and Terrence Holley.

Jerome Crews and Joshua Blackwell.

Spring Commencement 2007

Held May 5th 2007, the 115th Spring Commencement was held at Lawrence Joel Veterans Memorial Coliseum at 9:45 am. Over 54 percent of the 2007 graduates received baccalaureate and master's degrees in the sciences, math, and other technical fields. More than half of WSSU's Class of 2007 were classified as non-traditional students, a trend that continues to grow among colleges and universities across the country.

The highest GPA obtained in the class came from Darien Davis of Charlotte, NC, who graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Finance and Economics with a 4.0 GPA. More than 180 students will graduate with Latin honors, having maintained cumulative grade point averages ranging from 3.0 to 4.0.

People

Those sophomores sure know how to have fun!!!!
See them on page 118.

So, where is everyone on a nice, cool fall day ... on the breezeway!!
Pictured: Evan Parrish, Rich Miller, Brittany Taylor-Wright, Trae Haskins, Courtney Perry, and Brandon Foster.

Oh, how hard it is to be a RAM!!!!

Definition of a RAM

ram/noun:
an intelligent being destined to succeed and who knows what it really means to rep your school.

Okay, okay we were all freshmen at one point during our college years. Check them out on page 122.

Pictured:
Kim Ubaka

Reppin' their freshman dormitory, Dillard divas Kim Ubaka and Shakura Jackson strike a pose.

The Faces of WSSU

It's all about those RAMS!!

WSSU's enrollment over the past seven years has tripled and continues to increase with each new freshman class.

We have been ranked #1 among Top Southern Public Comprehensive Colleges at the bachelor's level by U.S. News and World Report magazine since 2002.

Being a Ram does not disappear when you graduate; it remains a part of your life. It is something you live with and keep in your heart forever.

For now, however, we introduce you to the people of 2007.

What has been your most memorable campus event?

"LoveFest was a blast! I really enjoyed it and it was a great Valentine's Day treat!!!!" - Shamara Morrison

"The best event that has taken place this year is the program with Sistah Souljah!!!!" - Christopher Sifford

Brittany Deshields and Leah Madison stop in between classes to socialize in the Ram Court.

Make room for the SENIORS!!!!!!!!!!!!

Cap and gown, filing for graduation, grad school applications, employment ... some people find senior year to be their most stressful and demanding year in college, but others tell about the wild parties and late night hangouts. However you view senior year, it is one that creates memories and friendships you will cherish for a lifetime.

What will you remember most about Winston-Salem State University?

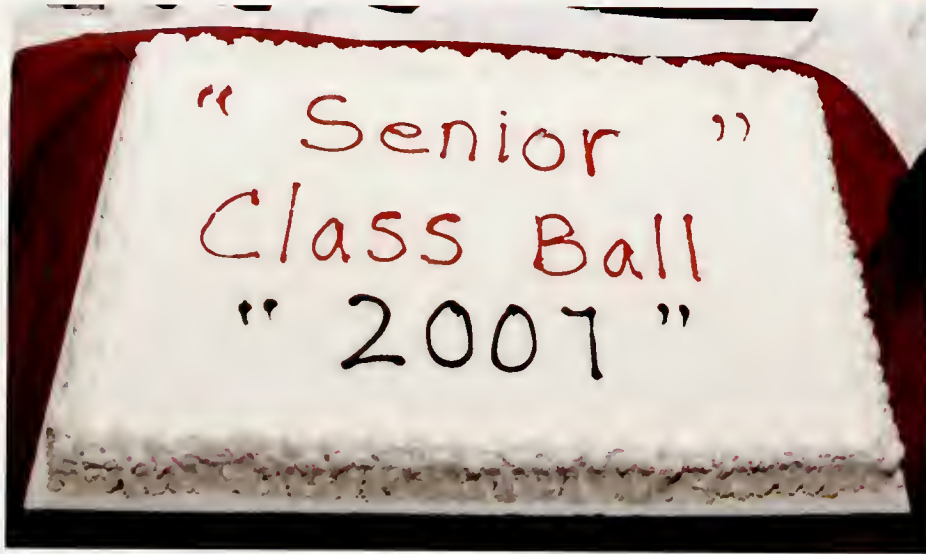

"I'm going to always remember the first warm day of spring when no one goes to class and everyone makes their way to the breezeway to pass the time." - Luico Holland

"I really liked the 'Why Cheat' program hosted by A PHI A." - Jamila Thomas

Senior Ball

CASINO Royale

Celebrating their last few days at Winston-Salem State University, the senior class set aside an evening of elegance to enjoy their achievements. The night consisted of musical entertainment, food and wonderful memories.

The journey you have endured at Winston-Salem State University has come to an end, but the memories you made will last a lifetime...

Class of 2008!!!

Your time to depart is almost here.....

JoBren Dingle and Mikki Caldwell

The juniors of Winston-Salem State University have done it all, seen it all and know it all - or so they think! With graduation not too far away, they are already preparing to ensure that they have the experience and skills needed to be successful in life after undergrad. Junior class members are definitely ready to make their last year at WSSU one to remember!

One more year...
What will you miss most
about WSSU?

"I will miss everyone's friendly attitude and sense of style and fashion." - Tyra Bell

"I will miss the breezeway fashion shows, the Ram Shack, stilettos at football games, and most of all the undeniable sense of family." - Chardonnay Bunkley

Shasta Jones and Amiya Lilly

Sheree Dykes and Allyson Mcfadden

One more year...
What will you miss most
about WSSU?

"Homecoming at WSSU is definitely like none other and I will miss the excitement." - JoBren Dingle

"I will miss being on the yearbook staff. It is very exciting and gets you more involved with the university." - Shasta Jones

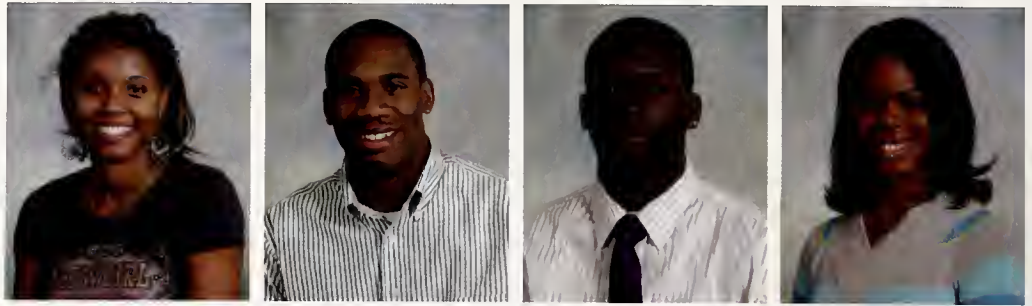

Close friends Deevia Graham and Chasta Hopkins

Not only do we get our work done, but we have fun as well!!!

Class of 2009

We made it through freshman year!!!

Above: On the way to a campus event, a few sophomores stop to take a picture.

Above: After a long week of classes, Sinetta Rorie and her friends have "girls night in," where they relaxed and ate in her dorm room.

WSSU sophomores are known to be the most school-spirited, and the class of 2009 is no exception. They wear school colors and are present at most, if not all, campus events. They are definitely serious about reppin' their school and knowing what it means to be a RAM.

Class of 2010

The new faces at WSSU!!!!

The largest freshman class ever at Winston-Salem State University made the transition from high school seem like a breeze. New friendships were formed and memories begun. Although it may seem as if you have all the time in the world to enjoy college, sooner or later it will be your time to walk across the stage. Enjoy the years spent at WSSU because, sadly, they will soon come to an end.

Unlike junior high, college demands much more work. In order to keep up with the rigorous academic courses, you must sacrifice some things, with one of them being sleep!!!!!!!

Campus Structures

Structures, from a simple sitting area to a skyscraper, provide insight into the culture and history of the people who created or used them. President Thomas Jefferson once said, "Architecture is my delight, and putting up and pulling down is one of my favorite amusements." The campus of Winston-Salem State University is evidence of this kind of "putting up and pulling down" process, as it has undergone many changes since beginning as a one-room schoolhouse in 1892. This evolution provides a glimpse into the history, not only of Winston-Salem State University, but also of American higher education and the legacy of African-Americans.

The Clock Tower

Since 2004 when the clock tower was constructed, it remains the focal point of the University. It contains quotes from Chancellor Harold L. Martin, school founder Simon Green Atkins, African-American educator Benjamin E. Mays, and celebrated author Maya Angelou on each side.

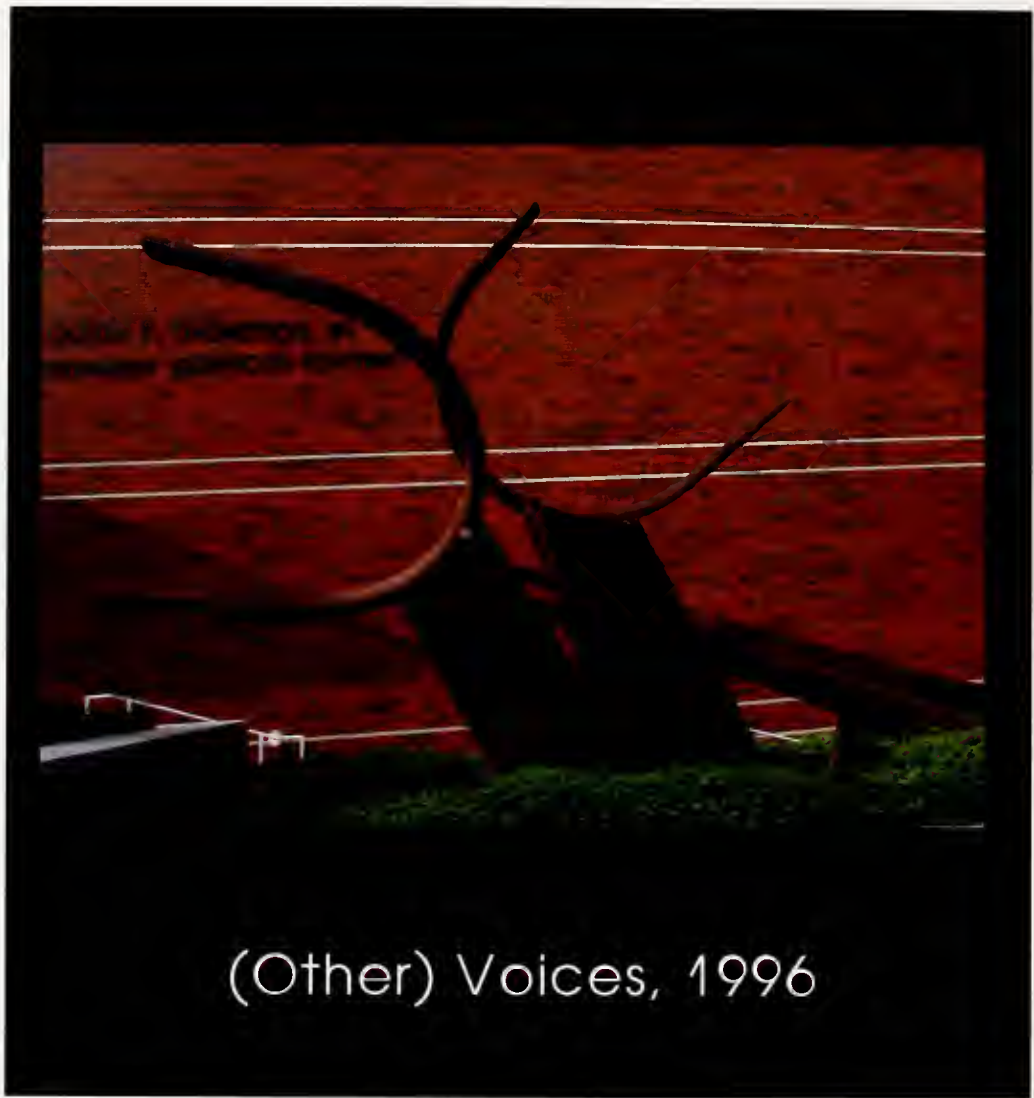

The Old Arches

Dedicated to Dr. Simon Green Atkins in 1936, the two arches are located between the Hauser Building and Hill Hall, and served as the gateway to the campus from the west.

Garden Ruins

Constructed in 1984, Garden Ruins is a strong, emotional piece composed of giant stones. It is a monument to a previous time and culture, a romantic statement, filled with melancholy and dignity.

(Other) Voices, 1996

The sculpture "(Other) Voices", by artist Dennis Peacock, echoes the theme of ascension and the choices found along life's pathways in a non-representational, three dimension form. This sculpture can be found at the entrance to the Cleon F. Thompson Student Center.

Southern Sunrise

The first sculpture in the “sculpture garden” at Winston-Salem State University was Southern Sunrise, an abstract, stainless steel piece by Melvin Edwards. It is composed of geometric elements and flat planes with brushed surfaces. Surface textures interact with the sunlight and enliven each form, so that the simple shapes offer an endless array of readings.

Saluting the Class of 2007!!!

CONGRATULATIONS JAMILA "MOOKIE" THOMAS!!

As you climb the ladder of success, you keep giving me reasons to be proud. As you take this next step, just remember to stay focused. Also remember that anything you want in life is within reach; if you dream it, you can achieve it. I can't wait until May 5th. I'm going to be the LOUDEST and PROUDEST mom in the house. I'm honored to have you as my child. You're a very special young lady and I hope you know that you mean the world to me. I love you and I'm super proud of you.

MAY YOU LIVE FOREVER AND OUR BOND NEVER DIE

*Love Always,
Mommy*

Teach Where You Can Make A Difference!

Wake County Public School System, located in the heart of the East Coast Sunbelt adjoining the Research Triangle Area, is an award-winning, nationally recognized progressive system. Within easy reach of both the North Carolina mountains and coast, Wake County encompasses Raleigh, the state capital, plus 11 other growing communities. Our school system is scheduled to serve more than 136,000 students in 152 schools during the 2007-2008 school year, including five new facilities that will be opening for the first time.

Consider the Wake County Public School System — where we are committed to hiring the brightest and the best education professionals! The school system sponsors two system-wide job fairs. The Fall Job Fair will be held on December 1, 2007.

Bridging the GAP between Education & Practice

It's the name of our special Graduate Advancement Program designed to assist new graduate RNs like you to successfully transition into a nursing career.

One of our own nurses says it best: "The GAP Program is good because it lets new graduates form a bond with each other and have a support system."

A yearlong program, the GAP includes:

- Classroom Content
- Mentor-Leader Time
- Focus Day

From policies and procedures, to being paired with a mentor for twelve months, to learning about global issues in nursing, Moses Cone is ready to tell you more about this successful program. Email: NurseRecruitment@mosescone.com; 1-866-266-3767. EOE

OUR PASSION FOR WINNING STARTS WITH PEOPLE.

R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company believes that the only way to encourage the best possible performance from every employee is by affording them the opportunity to fully utilize their diverse talents, perspectives and experiences. Therefore, we work to ensure that no one in our company has an automatic advantage or disadvantage because of age, gender, race or ethnic background.

We foster a climate and culture within R.J. Reynolds that engenders respect, and encourages and expects the maximum input and contribution from all employees — regardless of their position or level within the company.

Employees of R.J. Reynolds share a passion for winning, and understand that winning people are the key to our success.
